

Music Hall comes to U3A

The Royal Hotel in Drouin did U3A proud yet again this month with a great venue, carefully monitored in compliance with Covid-19 restrictions, and an excellent choice of dishes for lunch.

Once lunch was finished, there was a rollicking good start to this month's Gathering. Jim Connolly, noted lyricist, and Jenny Hall, U3A's very own concert pianist, combined forces to deliver a rousing rendition of "At Much Locked Down U3A". This was sung to the tune of "There's Much Binding on the Marsh" and the chorus from all 42 members who attended gave new meaning to the concept of musical harmony!

Following this overture to the Gathering, there was a continuation of the series of interviews with U3A Baw Baw identities.

Russell Brown had commenced these presentations at a previous Gathering. This time, he interviewed four more members, keeping the audience guessing with hints as he introduced each one until their identities were revealed by way of a portrait that he had drawn in crayon. He then subjected the interviewees to intense "interrogation" in order to reveal fascinating aspects of their lives.

U3A members are looking forward to the Christmas lunch in December with a varied program of local entertainers.

Members enjoy the stimulation offered by a variety of courses as well as meeting and socialising with like-minded people. U3A is open to retired and semi-retired Seniors. For more information, contact via the Web Page or ring the Secretary on 0490 770 062 or Email: info@u3abawbaw.org.au
