

Mystery History

Term 4 sees a return of the Mystery History Course. Our history wanderers will wonder as we travel to Japan and peek into the world of the geisha; Charles Manson and his gang will darken our doorstep from the United States of America in a look at more recent history than we normally talk about, before we retreat again to the dark past of evolutionary debaters - who said what about evolution, why it worked the way it did and who got all the glory (that's a poser, isn't it?). Halloween, of course, is in the mix too. An English royal makes her own introduction and a man from the mountain country of Europe finds his way in, too. After this we will discover the meaning of makeup and how it is, that women use it as a weapon (!) and then on to Christmas.

And in all that mix we have a guest speaker! Nigel Beresford is speaking on the 17th October about mobile phone photography. A must attend session - we all have these devices in our pockets and knowing how to use them properly will make show and tell for the family so much more fun.

Please join us again for a fabulous term of history made fun and enjoyable - for subjects and things that history never was in school!
